UH-CTAHR Local and Immigrant Farmer Education (LIFE) and Risk Management Hawaii (RMH) programs are conducting informational workshops about the Coffee Berry Borer (CBB). CBB is a major production risk that coffee growers on the Big Island have been battling since its arrival in 2010.

CTAHR's Coffee and Orchard Crops Extension Agent, Andrea Kawabata will be teaching farmers about first response actions and the most current CBB Integrated Pest Management and sampling protocols. Dr. Stuart Nakamoto, Extension Economist, will be discussing risk management and crop insurance policies available to growers for coffee and coffee trees. Dr. Russell Nagata, CTAHR's county administrator, other agents, and government agency personnel will be in attendance.

There will be a talk-story session for questions and answers during and after the presentations. Come and join us with your questions about CBB.

The CBB Risk Management Road Show allows growers to take part in CTAHR's classroom and hands on demonstrations. Pesticide education information is applicable to all growers.

These workshops are supported by the Local and Immigrant Farmer Education Program, Risk Management Hawaii, USDA National Institute of Food and Agriculture, Smith-Lever funds for Cooperative Extension and the USDA Risk Management Agency.

The goal of the LIFE program is to: 1) increase the viability and sustainability of commercial farms in Hawaii, 2) integrate more farmers into mainstream agriculture, and 3) help drive Hawaii's diversified industry forward.
