

Hawai'i Seed Fest: Local Seeds for Local Needs

Sunday, September 22 • 9 a.m. to noon
Pono Grown Farm Center
Makawao, Maui

Hosted by Evan Ryan, author of Hawai'i Home Gardens: Growing Vegetables in the Subtropics Using Holistic Methods

- Discover the art and culture of stewarding plants and seeds
- Participate in a seed-saving workshop
- Learn how to conduct successful variety trials in your garden
- Bring seeds and plant cuttings to share
- Meet others interested in improving local food security
- Learn about becoming a seed grower for the Hawai'i Seed Growers Network

Attendance is free, but space is limited. Pre-registration is required.
Contact Evan at evan@ponogrown.org or 808-269-9356 to register or for more information.

THE KOHALA CENTER®

Organized by the Hawai'i Seed Growers Network, a group of small-scale farmers in Hawai'i working together to grow and make locally adapted seed available for Hawai'i's tropical climates.

The Kohala Center is an equal opportunity provider, employer, and lender.