

Ke Kumu 'Āina

*A weeklong exploration of Hawai'i Island's native plants
for middle school students*

October 10–14, 2016

8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Waimea, Hawai'i Island

The Kohala Center's Ke Kumu 'Āina program takes place during the fall intersession and offers middle school students opportunities to learn about Hawai'i Island's native plants. Participants will engage in scientific field research in the Kohala Watershed, learn to identify native plants, and understand the environments in which they grow. Students will meet each day in Waimea and enjoy hands-on workshops and field trips to Kohala Mountain and beyond.

Download the application at koha.la/kekumuaina or contact Mahina Patterson at mpatterson@kohalacenter.org or 808-887-6411 for more information

Application deadline: extended to October 6!

Sponsored by Kamehameha Schools and
The Kohala Center

THE KOHALA CENTER[®]

The Kohala Center is an equal opportunity provider, employer, and lender.